

Happy November, everyone. I say it every year, but that's because it's true: the holiday season will be upon us in no time at all. I'm starting to get organized for Thanksgiving while I'm already behind for Christmas. And so it goes.

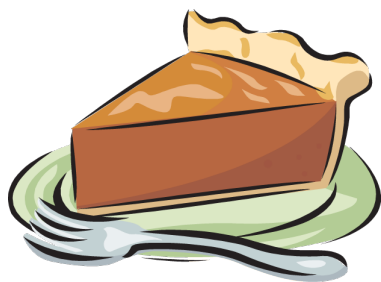

There are plenty of new videogame titles to fill your shelves this month. The Peanuts movie tie-in is going to be a blockbuster title, along with the newest Call of Duty incarnation and Kung Fu Panda and Star Wars and Tomb Raider and on and on. I hope you saved some of your budget for the last couple of big months.

The InstaAudio and InstaDVD programs are insta-popular. If you haven't tried either program yet, please take a look at the November titles that are available. You can use the flyer to check off the titles you want, and fax or email it back to us. It's a quick and easy way to do your ordering. If you're looking for more or different titles, send an email and we'll get you a quote.

We're doing some fine tuning of our website. In a week or two, we hope to have all of the Insta flyers, the Crimson Ink newsletters, and the catalog supplements available for download. Some things are there now. Some aren't. It's a little bit of housekeeping that will make things easier for everyone.

Happy Thanksgiving to all. Enjoy your pumpkin pie!
