

It's the spookiest time of the year! Bowls of candy will be everywhere: in our homes, our offices, our libraries. Kind people will offer us sweets at the bank and the post office. Navigating through this sugar-filled month can be terrifying. Be brave!

You know what has zero calories? Video games. They don't rot your teeth, either. Just Dance 2018 is coming out this month, long with Rugby 18, WWE 2K18, and the much-anticipated South Park game.

Among the October new releases are a handful of titles that are marked as "PlayLink." Sony created PlayLink with the goal of bringing people together socially and through co-op experiences who might otherwise not play video games. PlayLink titles run on PlayStation 4 in conjunction with a smartphone app. Games can be played alone but are mainly intended to be played with a group. They look like fun.

Happy Halloween to one and all!
