January 2022

OUR 56TH YEAR

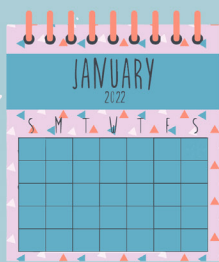

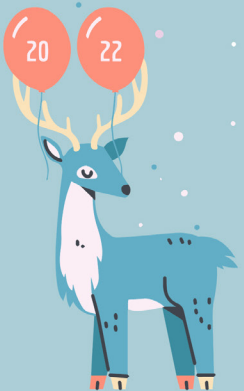

WOO HOO!! IT'S 2022! I feel extremely happy about closing the door on 2021. Please let 2022 be better. Please.

We're starting off the year with a tiny list of January new releases. This is a one-off as the February list is already extensive. By the way, if you would like to get on our email list for new release spreadsheets, please send me an email request. At the beginning of each month, we send the current and next month's lists. So, for example, we are sending out the January and February spreadsheets on/around January 1st. Let me know if you want to receive the information monthly.

All of us here had a nice long break and now we're back to work. Masked and distanced and working remotely, but working all the same. So please let us know what we can do to help get your video game collection updated and circulating.

Happy New Year!
